The nbn™ (National Broadband Network) is upgrading landline and Internet networks around Australia.

HOW WILL THE NBN AFFECT MY LIFT EMERGENCY TELEPHONE?

The new nbn is NOT guaranteed to work during a blackout. It is a legal requirement to ensure your Lift Emergency Telephone is "safe to operate". This means that elevator owners need to install a new "compliant solution" prior to nbn installation in their area.

WHAT IS THE SOLUTION?

Easy Living Home Elevators has sourced a wireless compliant solution that offers exceptional value.

- Stand alone solution
- Fail-safe battery back up with 24hours stand by
- 2.5 hours talk time in event of power outage
- Compatible with existing handsets and handsfree phones that operate on the old copper network
- Compatible with all Australian networks
- Simply supply your own SIM card and have it ready for us upon arrival

HOW LONG DO I HAVE?

nbn have allowed a transition period of 18 months from the time of nbn connection to the disconnection of the copper network. For Lift Emergency Telephones which have been registered with nbn, an extension period will be granted until July 2017, or 18 months after nbn connection (whichever is the latter)

WHAT DO I NEED TO DO?

- Register your Lift Emergency Telephone lines with nbn
- Check when nbn will be 'ready for service' in your area
- Order a Wireless Lift Emergency Telephone Solution
